Footage the Bills.

For several years the people have been told that Wisconsin was an experiment field in political and social science—that the state was being made a political laboratory for the nation. Great stress was laid upon the fact that "the Wisconsin idea" was advertising the state far and wide, that, in fact, the eyes of the whole world were turned in the direction of the Badger commonwealth, and that our progress was being watched with a view of imitation by others.

It seems that in order to carry out "the Wisconsin idea" it was necessary for the "reform" republican state administration to create no less than fifty one boards and commissions. Naturally, the zealous members of the various boards and commissions took pains to promote their special endeavors, not letting the master of cost hamper their work. There was research work, costly investigation by experts and voluminous reports printed at the expense of the state. Some idea of the total expense of exploiting "the Wisconsin idea" may be gained when it is known that expenses of the late ten years have increased from $1,000,000 to $13,000,000, and show no signs of diminution, and this is in the face of the fact that this immense expenditure is wholly out of proportion with the increase of population or business.

Realizing the injustice of this heavy burden that has been placed upon the taxpayers of Wisconsin, the democratic party at its recent convention took a decided stand for a business administration of state affairs. The democratic platform on this point says: "We demand that the expenses be radically diminished, by reducing the large array of office holders and employees, and by limiting the expense to the necessary and strictly public purposes of state government administered according to business methods, instead of wasting the same for the benefit of administration favorites."

It is certainly to the interest of the taxpayers to give effect to this plank by making it the will of the people at the polls. A vote for Judge Karel and the other candidates on the democratic state ticket is a vote for economy in state government.—Hartford Times.

Wm. Johns of Neocoma was fined $2 and costs before Justice Pomainville on Monday for being drunk and disorderly. The complaint was made by his wife.

The track has been built in the city of Portage, and the operation was commenced some time ago, but this, and a small amount of track in the city of Madison is all that has ever been done about the matter. While it is to be hoped that the matter can be eventually straightened out, there is no question but that it would come about quicker if ordinary business sense were displayed in the matter.

Future Outlook Unfavorable.

It appears that the outlook for the building of the proposed Chicago and Wisconsin Valley railway is not as favorable now as it was earlier in the season, owing to the fact that funds for the completion of the road are not obtainable.

When this road was first proposed the promoters were in this city and tried to interest some of our local capitalists in the proposition, but this they failed to do. Later, it was understood that they offered a share of our prominent citizens a share of the stock if they would allow their names to be used in the matter, and this offer was refused also. Then they got peevish over the matter and ran their road six miles east of this city.

Of course this was all right. They had a perfect right to run their railroad anywhere they wanted to, but it showed mighty poor business sense. The income of an electric line, like almost anything else, depends altogether on the number of people that live along the right of way, or adjacent to it, and when the promoters pass up a town of seven thousand people they are certainly flying in the face of providence.

An electric line between this city and Stevens Point would have been quite a convenience for the people as well as a paying proposition for the road itself; in fact it would probably have been the best part of the road from a financial standpoint, so that in leaving us out they were merely biting off their own nose to spite their face, a mighty poor business policy to pursue.

The road would have passed through a part of the country that is now a long distance from a railroad, or any other kind of a road that can be negotiated with any sort of pleasure, and while there are not many people living along the right of way at the present time, they might have located there in the course of human events and it would have been a good thing for the country, whether it proved very profitable for the company or not.

The track has been built in the city of Portage, and the operation was commenced some time ago, but this, and a small amount of track in the city of Madison is all that has ever been done about the matter. While it is to be hoped that the matter can be eventually straightened out, there is no question but that it would come about quicker if ordinary business sense were displayed in the matter.

Ask for State Aid.

County Clerk, P. H. Eberhardt has made his report to the State Highway commission at Madison. This report shows that eighteen out of twenty-two towns have asked for state aid. Under the law, the town pays one-third of the county one-third and the state one-third of the cost. The total amount appropriated by the eighteen towns amounting to $3,650.00 for roads, figuring that as one-third the total amount to be expended in Wood County next year for highways will amount to $10,950.00. Seven towns have also petitioned for bridges, the total amount of the town appropriation for bridges is $4,050.00. As the town and county each have to provide 40 per cent for bridges and the state 20 per cent, this would mean that the total amount to be spent on bridges would be $7,625 of a total for bridges and roads together of $11,675.00.

The towns asking road aid are: Arpin $650; Cameron $500; Cary $400; Dexter $400; Haines $400; Illinois $400; Lincoln $400; Milwaukee $800; Port Lincoln $400; Remington $400; Richfield $400; Rock $400; Rudolph $400; Seaman $400; Sherry $1,000; Sigel $800; Wood $400. The towns petitioning for bridges are Cameron $500; Dexter $250; Hiles $800; Remington $800; Richfield $250; Rock $400; Seaman $250.

The town that did not ask for state aid but who will have to bear their proportion of the county's share in the building of roads are Amburden, Grand Rapids, Saratoga and Marshfield.

Got a Life Sentence.

Mortimer Wilson, the young man who shot and killed Grant Boardley on Tuesday night of last week, was sentenced to state prison for life by Circuit Judge Park at a special term of court held in Stevens Point on Thursday evening at 9:45 o'clock.

Wilson was accompanied to Stevens Point by the sheriff and district attorney and before the circuit judge where he pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. In speaking of the matter the Stevens Point Journal says:

In reply to questions put by Judge Park, Wilson said that he was 19 years of age and that the family had lived in Grand Rapids for the past five years, during four of which he had made his own living. He said that he had no intention of killing Mr. Boardley, but when his victim did not hold up his hands as ordered, he was forced to shoot.

Wilson is a nice appearing young man and was well dressed. He showed no emotion when receiving sentence, but when Sheriff Walsh was considering the advisability of going from this city to Waupun instead of returning to Grand Rapids, there were a few tears in his eyes and he factually asked to be taken back to Grand Rapids, that he might see his father before beginning his sentence, the result of which, if he lives the allotted life of man, three score and ten, he will spend fifty-one years within the walls of the state prison.

Death of John Garibee.

John Garibee, one of the old residents of this city and vicinity, died at his home on the east side Thursday evening in a very sudden manner, death being due to heart failure.

Mr. Garibee, who for a number of years past, has occupied the position of chief of police in this city, was on duty on Thursday, and was apparently in as good health as usual. He spent the evening at home and when about to retire he was taken suddenly sick with heart trouble. He realized at once that he was seriously ill and told his wife so and she at once telephoned for a physician and summoned another body, but notwithstanding that a physician arrived within a short time, it was already too late to do anything for him, he passing away about 10:15 o'clock.

Mr. Garibee had been subject to attacks of heart trouble for several years past, and had had a number of bad spells, but with prompt medical assistance had each time pulled through in good shape and enjoyed fairly good health most of the time, being able to attend to his work as a general thing.

Mr. Garibee was born in Quebec on the 24th of June, 1851, but came to this country with his parents when thirteen years of age and has since resided here. During his early manhood he was employed in the lumber yards and as a fireman along the Wisconsin river, and in these capacities formed a large acquaintance.

Nine years ago he was married to Miss Louise Petreick of this city, who with two children, a boy and a girl, survive him. For the past eighteen years he has been employed by the city as police officer, part of which time he occupied at the time of his death.

The funeral was held on Monday morning from 8:30, Peter and Paul church, Rev. Wm. Redding conducting the services.

What Happened to Fritz.
—Aha Villard has presented many good successful plays including the phenomenal hit, "Texas Sweethearts," but what happened to Fritz is better than any of them for diverse local entertainment, for besides four acts of good, clean, solid fun, thrilling dramatic situations, all interwoven in a very interesting story, Aha Villard and Edna Conrad present their original and successful singing and musical act with which they toured the big Vaudeville houses in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, etc., etc. Miss Conrad has a beautiful voice and her singing was a genuine treat. At Daily's Theatre, Friday, Oct. 11, Popular prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. Children 15 cents. Advertisement.

Tomahawk Was Easy.
The football game between the local high and the boys from Tomahawk on Saturday resulted in an easy victory for the locals, the score being 67 to 7 in favor of Grand Rapids. The visitors were a trifle light weight and then they gave some things to learn about the game before they will be able to hold their own against an aggregation like the Grand Rapids team.

From prompt indications it begins to look as if the locals were going to skin everything in this vicinity unless something much more formidable turns up than they have encountered so far.

Nelson Spearbraker.
Miss Pearl Nelson of Manitowish and August Spearbraker of this city were married at Manitowish on Monday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents.

The groom is well known in this city, having been employed here as window trimmer in the Johnson & Hill store for some time past, and during his residence here has made a large number of friends, and the bride is said to be a most estimable young lady, altho a stranger to our people.

Mr. and Mrs. Spearbraker will be at home to their friends in this city after October 20th.

LaFollette for Wilson.
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7.—That Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin has declared himself for Wilson and will take an active part in the democratic campaign was a statement issued on Monday by the Wilson National Progressive Republican League. The league, headed by Rudolph Spreckels of San Francisco, has just opened a branch office at 624 McCormick building. Beside the statement that LaFollette has declared for Wilson, in a list of prominent republicans who are said to have turned down both Taft and Roosevelt, no statement is made as to the Wisconsin senator's plans.

Ask for State Aid.

County Clerk, P. H. Eberhardt has made his report to the State Highway commission at Madison. This report shows that eighteen out of twenty-two towns have asked for state aid. Under the law, the town pays one-third the cost of the road, the state one-third and the county one-third of the cost. The total amount of the eighteen towns amounts to $5,650.00 for roads. Flanking as one-third the total amount to be expended in Wood county next year for highways will amount to $26,950. Seven towns have petitioned for bridges, the total amount of the two appropriations for bridges is $3,050.00. As the town and county each have to provide 40 per cent for bridges and the state 20 per cent, this would mean that the total amount to be spent in bridges would be $7,625 of a total for bridges and roads totaling of $33,575.00.

The towns asking road aid are: Arpin $500; Cameron $100; Cary 400; Dexter $400; Hanson $100; Hill 400; Lincoln $400; Madison $200; Port Edwards $400; Remington $400; Richfield $400; Rock $400; Rudolph $400; Seneca $200; Sherry $1,000; Sigel $400; Wood $100. The towns petitioning for bridges are Cameron $300; Dexter $250; Hill $200; Remington $200; Richfield $250; Rock $200; Seneca $250.

The town that did not ask for state aid but who will have to bear their proportion of the county's share in the building of roads are Auburnville, Grand Rapids, Saratoga and Marshfield.

Death of Albert Schwanz.

Albert Schwanz, one of the old settlers of the west side, died at his home on Sunday after an illness extending over several years, the cause of his death being tuberculosis. Mr. Schwanz was able to be around until the past two weeks, since which he had been confined to his bed.

Decceased was born in the Province of Prussia, Sept. 2nd, 1854, and came to this country in 1881 settling at Milwaukee where he remained for two years, after which he moved to this city and has resided here for 29 years. Mr. Schwanz was an honest and hard working man and for many years worked at the south side mill. He is survived by his wife and eight children, they being Mrs. Alaricus Sipe of Birch, Mrs. Aug. Wittenberg and Mrs. C. Hansen of the city, Herman of Mousieue and Erna, Linia and Julia who are living at home. The funeral was held this afternoon from the German Lutheran church on the west side, Rev. Nommensen officiating.

Charged With Forgery.

J. P. Kink was arrested in Green Bay on Monday and by Sheriff Schmitt brought to this city the day following, the charges against him being forgery. King was taken before Justice Brown on Tuesday when an adjournment of one week was asked for and granted.

King was representing the Chas. H. Gillespie & Sons Co. of Jersey City, and had been about town for several days. He is a nice appearing young man and during his stay at the Dixon Hotel got Charles Dixon to endorse a draft for him for $50. Later he passed a check for $10 at the Harvey Gee saloon, both of which proved to be worthless.

King had left the city when it was discovered that the checks were valueless and when arrested had just succeeded in passing a check on a saloon keeper in passing the amount of which was $60. This money, however, was returned to the owner before any of it had been spent.

Report Was Delayed.

While the report was somewhat late in making the rounds this year, it has at last bobbed up with its usual persistency. The matter of building the Soo cutoff is the one referred to and the report now has it that the cutoff will be built next year, work to commence on it early in the spring. The Stevens Point papers report the idea of the Soo building a cutoff at all, claiming that the road to put in no advantage to the road to put in the necessary money for the proposition. They may be right. We have heard the rumor so often during the past ten years and each time it has proved to be only a rumor, so that it may be a thing that the company is not worrying about in the least. We do not know that Grand Rapids people are laying awake any night if thinking about the proposed cutoff. If the Soo people want to build it and it is a money-making proposition, they have our consent to do so, but if they do not we will probably be able to worry along some way.

Methodist Reception.

A reception was given at the parlors of the Methodist church on Friday evening for Rev. Logan and family. The basement of the church had been tastefully decorated for the occasion and there was a big crowd out to take part. The evening was very pleasantly spent, there being music and speeches, all of which were thoroughly appreciated by those present.

Wilson and Karel Club.

A meeting was held at the west side city hall on Thursday evening on which occasion a Wilson and Karel club was organized. There was a good crowd present, all of the wards in the city being represented. Joseph Whier, Jr., was elected president of the club and vice presidents from the different wards will be appointed.

Campaign Charges.
The campaign charges being made this year are a disgrace. Liar, forger, thief, are almost as common charges as that old time one, "belonging to the other party." And if it doesn't disgust the American people it will be a disgrace to the national manhood. It is to be noticed that it is the one bright spot in it all—that the charges and mud slinging and name calling are confined to the factions of the Republican party, considering the new Progressive element as one of the G. O. P. factions.

These charges made by one faction of that party against another, by one set of personalities against another, this personal bitterness that is bringing down Republican idols about the feet of the worshippers, is to put it mildly, humiliating. They shed a great light upon past party history, upon what has been going on behind the closed doors of committee rooms, the secret of political executive headquarters. In the illumination of Republican methods and practices; of the men who have led and managed that party, the people may see their way to freedom, they may realize what that party a mere blind, a mere catchword. They can see in strong color the true character of the men to whom they gave their trust and the power of government—a sight for the gods! And they may see in the light the way to their freedom. Under its new leadership, free of such name calling and disgraceful tradings the Republican party stands out strongly as the hope of the nation. The people are not blind.

Wilson a Favorite.

Woodrow Wilson in his tour through the west, has met with most flattering reception. There is nothing about him like the wonderful oratory of Bryan to draw crowds which shows that it is no mere curiosity that draws the multitudes out to catch a glimpse of his strong honest face and to shake his hand when possible. The people everywhere are deeply impressed with the greatness of this man's character, intellect and patriotic leadership. While this campaign is free from spectacular plays it is clearly evident that the majority of the people of this country are firmly determined to send that great statesman to the White House. Democrats are everywhere who ever go, for they have something to whisper for all right.

New Invention for Coin Purse.

Keeping the flap closed by a rubber band is a Washington inventor claims to have devised a new purse that is safer than the usual form.

No one need fear Woodrow Wilson's conservatism.

It is of the same, sensible, reasonable kind. He will not try to doctor the nation's eyes with a crowbar, nor will he try to force his business in order to cure a pimple on its nose. Constitutional provisions that have become firmly impressed on the life and conscience of one nation are sacred things to him. He recognizes the wisdom of the father who created them in a half-century and is not a half-century statesman, but a fully and completely a man of his great learning and good judgment would naturally be expected to adhere to the constitution. The protective tariff is not to his liking, and yet he does not propose to smash it, but smother it with a beetle the first chance he has to get a crack at it, but he does propose to eliminate its most objectionable features with reasonable promptness by attacking its schedules in the order in which they are most objectionable to the nation. His conservatism is his best asset. His conservatism is excellent, factories are running, the mail is delivered, the industry thrives, the people are happy, and the world is a better place for it.

Those Bird Men.

Country cousin—Blamed if this ain't the time I ever saw flies. When they was grow on the ground. City Relative—Those are not flies. They are cigarette butts falling from the aeroplanes.—Puck.

No democrat should fail to vote the national and state ticket of his party at the November election.

Wilson and Marshall stand for the people against corporation rule. The feud between the bosses of the republican party, which broke out in the Chicago convention, should be all the evidence one needs to show plainly that no one can be gained for the country by voting for either Taft or the Bull Moose candidate. Taft is the candidate of big interests that believe class legislation is their God given right and robbery by the tariff is not a crime. Mr. Taft is honest enough not to deny that he is supported by men who live off the grafting of the common people; but Teddy Roosevelt, the man who believes that three or more terms in the presidential chair, for himself, is proper, poses as the only righteous man on earth. It is a well known fact, however, that he has been the tool of Wall Street as long as he has been before the American public and is fairly saturated with Standard Oil, small and great from the Harvester trust and big steel company. If either should be elected the same old bosses will be behind the throne to direct legislation.

In Wisconsin there should be a general house cleaning in the interest of the taxpayer. Under the present method of plugging state affairs, the people's money is being expended extravagantly. It is high time that some steps be taken by the taxpayers to get the state back to a point where the conducting of its affairs will be a business proposition. In the past ten years the cost of operating the state has increased from $3,000,000 to $18,000,000 annually. This is done in the name of progressiveness and thousands of men who should be working for a living, like other people, are holding fast jobs at the expense of the man who toils and pays the taxes.

The candidate for governor on the republican ticket, Francis E. McGovern, was nominated without opposition but there is a strong feeling against him among the rank and file of the republican party that foreshadow his defeat in November. McGovern poses as a progressive and though elected to lead the republican delegation to the national convention at Chicago, as a LaFollette delegate, he at once began fighting with the Bull Moose who has a record of turning down every measure advocated by LaFollette while the Bull Moose was in the presidential chair. McGovern was as dumb as an oyster since that convention, never opening his clam until after the primary convention and the endorsement of Senator LaFollette, whereupon he came out in a lengthy announcement advocating the election of Roosevelt and denouncing Wilson as the tool of the Tammany boss and other kindred spirits. Could anyone out a sorer figure in the campaign than does McGovern? He was made governor of this state solely through the influence of LaFollette. He knows that LaFollette and those who are his real followers have no use for Teddy; that the Bull Moose does not represent anything progressive, never has done so nor ever will be. He is aware of the desire of the true LaFollette followers that they should be elected in the race, not over-rating his own importance, he has reached the point of thinking he is a bigger man than LaFollette and with colossal ingratitude turns his back upon his erstwhile friends and goes over to the enemy. Pride goeth before a fall and McGovern richly deserves and bids fair to get the worst political thrashing ever given to a Wisconsin man in November.

The democrats have named John O. Karel for governor. He is one of the strong young men of the state and for several years has held a judicial office in Milwaukee. It is true that he is opposed to the present income tax and there are many democrats who believe with him on that issue, but the law should be given a trial, but those democrats when they come to think of the thousand and one office holders that are now pensioned by the state and of the extravagance in the spending of public funds will say to themselves that democrats cannot afford to nibble over the income tax when there is such a demand for a general clean up at Madison and remanding the state government into the hands of men who will not out down, instead of raise the expense of government to the people. The republican party itself says that the present income tax has defects that should be remedied. Judge Karel is a staunch supporter of Wilson and Marshall and stands on the platform of his party for a national income tax.

Governor McGovern insults the intelligence of democrats when he seeks their votes in the same breath that he denounces Wilson as not being progressive and lauds Teddy as an angel. He lost the chance of getting a vote from a single democrat in Wisconsin when he shot that bolt.—Chilton Times.

Those Bird Men.

Country cousin—Blamed if this ain't the time I ever saw flies. When they was grow on the ground. City Relative—Those are not flies. They are cigarette butts falling from the aeroplanes.—Puck.

Among the great needs of country homes are a running water system and a beautiful, cleanly method of disposing of sewage, so as to prevent breeding grounds around the back door.

Farmers, as well as city people, appreciate a bathroom, laundry, kitchen sink, etc. All of these conveniences are made possible by using a concrete septic tank for sewage disposal, the total materials for which cost only $75.00, $15 of which can be saved by furnishing your own gravel. Maintenance costs nothing; there is no odor if properly installed and two hours' work per year will keep it in order. How it works and how to make one are described in a circular just issued by the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. Models of it were exhibited at the state fair, and created much interest.

New and Fatal Horse Disease.

The present outbreak of a very fatal epidemic disease of horses in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and other middle western states is attracting wide attention from all horse owners. Although no case has yet been reported in Wisconsin, it seems wise to call attention to the chief symptoms of the disease in order that any outbreak may be early recognized and steps be taken to control it.

The State Veterinarian of Nebraska states that the disease is not confined to any particular locality, horses in dry sections as well as low, damp sections being affected. There is absolutely nothing known about its nature, cause, treatment or prevention of the malady. Horses usually succumb to the infection; not more than five per cent recover, and in the Veterinarian's opinion these few recoveries are not due to any treatment. It attacks horses of all ages, but mostly young animals between two and six years old. Most of the cases die within forty-eight hours, a few linger for a week or more. In some cases death occurs within twelve hours.

The initial attack is usually a fever. However, indications that the central nervous system is chiefly involved are shown by general lassitude, grinding of the teeth, deranged sensibility, etc. The animal's control over the movements of the limbs, and fall down and generally remain flat on the side without showing any evidence of pain but make frantic attempts to get up.

The temperature in the greater number of cases ranges between 103 degrees and 106 degrees F. At first the pulse is normal, later it fluctuates, and finally becomes very fast and imperceptible. At the same time the breathing is increased and abnormal.

Dr. C. H. Etteson, State Veterinarian, and Dr. F. B. Hadley of the Veterinary Department of the Agricultural College are prepared to respond to calls for help from residents of Wisconsin who have any reason to suspect this extremely fatal disease among their horses.

Republican Advice.

Merrill Daily Herald (Republican). It is not so much the matter whether Roosevelt and Wilson are elected; the important thing is the defeat of President Taft.

Not alone has President Taft violated the platform pledges of the republican platform on which he secured his election, but he has violated his own personal pledges to continue the Roosevelt policies.

One of the first acts of President Taft was to abolish the Country Life Commission created by his predecessor, Theodore Roosevelt. This commission was for the purpose of studying country life and find out what legislation, if any, was necessary to make country life more prosperous and comfortable.

This Country Life Commission was one of the great acts of Theodore Roosevelt. President Taft wiped it out at once.

President Taft has always shown that he has no sympathy with farmers and working men. He is an aristocrat of aristocrats and looks down upon the man who must work with his hands whether it be in field, farm or factory.

Farmer and laboring men should be the chief enemies of the Taft administration. He is their enemy, as he has shown upon many occasions.

Campaign Charges.

The campaign charges being made this year are a disgrace. They are, in fact, almost as much as the charges of the other party. And if it doesn't disgust the American people it will be a disgrace to the nation. It is the one bright spot in all that the charges are made and sting and name calling are confined to the campaign. The Republican party is considering the new Progressive element as one of the G. O. P. factions.

These charges made by one faction of that party against another, by one set of personalities against another, this personal bitterness that is bringing down Republican idols about the feet of the nation's citizens, is a mild, illuminating. They shed a great light upon past party history, upon what has been going on behind the closed doors of conference rooms, the screens of political executive headquarters.

In the illumination of Republican methods and practices of the party who have led and managed that party, the people may see their way to the freedom they now realize was under that party a mere illusion, a mere word. They can see in strong color their trusted friends, the men to whom they gave their trust and the power of government—a sight for the good.

Wilson a Favorite.

Woodrow Wilson, in his tour through the west, has met with most flattering receptions. There is nothing about him like the womanly beauty of Bryan to draw crowds which shows that it is no mere curiosity that draws the multitudes out to catch a glimpse of his strong honest face and to shake his hand when possible. The people everywhere are deeply impressed with the greatness of this man's character, intellect and patriotic leadership. While this campaign is in progress, the people are looking for a man to lead them to the White House. Democrats whoop it up wherever you go, for you have something to whoop for all right.

New Invention for Coin Purse.

Keeping the flap closed by a rubber cord, a Washington inventor claims to have devised a coin purse that is safer than the usual form.

No one need fear Woodrow Wilson's conservatism. It is of the same sort as the reasonable man's eye with a crowbar, nor pull the vital organs out of business in order to cure a cough with its nose. Conservative is a word that has become firmly impressed on the life and commerce of our nation as sacred things to him. He recognizes the wisdom of the father who created them, not in a half-hearted apologetic way as some aspiring statesmen do, but fully and completely, as a man of his own mind and good judgment would naturally be expected to recognize them. The protective tariff is not to his liking, and yet he does not propose to abolish it, to smother it with a beetle the first chance he has to get a crack at it, but he does propose to eliminate its most objectionable features with reasonable promptness by attacking its schedules in the order in which they are most objectionable and burdensome. His conservatism is his strength. Although this is a campaign year, business is excellent, factories are running overtime, and the hum of industry draws the wealth of the galaxy northward and makes one forget the approaching election. Never before has such a condition prevailed in a presidential year, and we have no reason to doubt that the country—and most business men are honest—do not fear Woodrow Wilson's election. They know he is not a business iconoclast.

No democrat should fail to vote the national and state ticket of his party at the November election. Wilson and Marshall stand for the people against corruption. The feud between the bosses of the republican party, which broke out in the Chicago convention, should be all the evidence one needs to show plainly that nothing can be gained for the country by voting for either Taft or the Bull Moose candidate. Taft is the candidate of high interests that believe claim legislation is their God given right and robbery by the tariff is not a crime. Mr. Taft is supported by men who live off the grafting of the common people, but Teddy Roosevelt, the man who believes that three or more terms in the presidential chair, for himself, is proper, poses as the only righteous man on earth. It is a well known fact, however, that he has been the tool of Wall Street as long as he has been before the American public and is fairly saturated with Standard Oil, small and grease from the Harvester trust and big steel company. If either should be elected the same old boss will be behind the throne to direct legislation.

In Wisconsin there should be a general house cleaning in the interest of the tax payer. Under the present method of conducting state affairs taxes are piling up rapidly and the people are being expended extravagantly. It is high time that some steps be taken by the taxpayers to get the state back to a point where the conducting of its affairs will be a business proposition. In the past ten years the cost of operating the state has increased from $8,000,000.00 to $13,000,000.00 annually. This is done in the name of progressiveness and thousands of men who should be working for a living, like other people, are holding fast jobs at the expense of the man who toils and pays the taxes.

The candidate for governor on the republican ticket, Francis E. McGovern, was nominated without opposition but there is a strong feeling against him among the rank and file of the republican party that forbids his defeat in November. McGovern poses as a progressive and though elected to head the republican delegation to the national convention at Chicago, as a LaFollette delegate, he at once began flitting with the Bull Moose who has a record of turning down every measure advocated by LaFollette while the Bull Moose was in the presidential chair. McGovern was as dumb as an oyster since that convention, never opening his clam until after the primary convention and the endorsement of Senator LaFollette, whereupon he came out in a lengthy announcement advocating the election of Roosevelt and denouncing Wilson as the tool of the Tammany. Could anyone other kindred spirits? Could anyone other kindred spirits? He campaign that does McGovern? He made governor of this state solely through the influence of LaFollette. He knows that LaFollette and those who are his real followers have no use for Teddy; that the Bull Moose does not represent anything progressive, never has done so nor never will. He is aware of the desire of all true LaFollette followers that Teddy should be third in the race, so far as Wisconsin is concerned, but over-rating his own importance, he has reached the point of thinking he is a bigger man than LaFollette and with colossal ingratitude turns his back upon his erstwhile friend and goes over to the enemy. Pride goes before a fall and McGovern richly deserves a fall and a fall to get the worst political plumping ever given to a Wisconsin man in November.

The democrats have named John C. Karr for governor. He is one of the strong young men of the state and for several years has held a judicial office in Milwaukee. It is true that he is opposed to the present income tax and there are many democrats who disagree with him on that issue, believing the law should be given a trial, but those democrats when they come to think of the thousand and one useless office holders that are now pensioned by the state and of the extravagance in the spending of public funds will say to themselves that democrats cannot afford to quibble over the income tax when there is such a demand for a general clean up as Madison and remanding the state government into the hands of men who will not let down, instead of raise the expense of government to the people. The republican party itself says that the present income tax has defects that should be remedied. Judge Karr is a staunch supporter of Wilson and Marshall and stands on the platform of his party for a national income tax.

Governor McGovern insults the intelligence of democrats when he seeks their votes in the same breath that he denounces Wilson as not being progressive and lauds Teddy as an angel. He lost the pleasure of getting a vote from a single democrat in Wisconsin when he shot that bolt. Ohlton Times.

These Bird Men.
Country Cousin—Blamed if this ain't the first time I ever saw fire flies when they were around the ground. City Relative—Those are not fireflies. They are cigarette butts falling from the aeroplanes.—Puck.

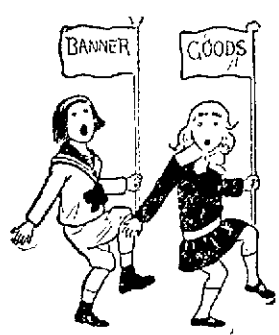

Among the great needs of country houses are a running water system and a healthful, cleanly method of disposing of sewage, so as to prevent fly breeding grounds around the back door. Farmers, as well as city people, appreciate a bathroom, laundry, kitchen sink, etc. All of these conveniences are made possible by using a concrete septic tank for sewage disposal, the total materials for which cost only $75.00, $15 of which can be saved by furnishing your own gravel. Maintenance costs nothing. There is no odor if properly installed and two hours' work and you will keep it in order. How it works and how to make it are described in a circular just issued by the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin. Models of it were exhibited at the state fair, and created much interest.

New and Fatal Horse Disease.
The present outbreak of a very fatal epidemic disease of horses in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and other middle western states is attracting much attention from all horse owners. Although no case has yet been reported in Wisconsin, it seems wise to call attention to the chief symptoms of the disease in order that any outbreak may be early recognized and steps be taken to control it.

The State Veterinarian of Nebraska states that the disease is not confined to any particular locality, horses in dry sections as well as low, damp sections being affected. There is absolutely nothing known about the nature, cause, treatment or prevention of the malady. Horses usually succumb to the infection; not more than five per cent recover and in the Veterinarian's opinion these few recoveries are not due to any treatment. It attacks horses of all ages, but mostly young animals, two and six years old. Most of the horses die within forty-eight hours, a few linger for a week or more. In some cases death occurs within a few hours. The initial symptoms are variable. However, indications that the central nervous system is chiefly involved are shown by general lassitude, grinding of the teeth, drowsiness, etc. The animals cannot control the movements of the limbs, and fall down and generally remain flat on the side with no signs of any evidence of pain, but may make automatic movements with the legs. The temperature in the greater number of cases ranges between 100 and 105 degrees Fahrenheit. The pulse is nearly normal, later it fluctuates, and finally becomes very fast and imperceptible. At the same time the breathing is increased. Indiana, the state that is such a prolific producer of statesmen, politicians, poets and authors, claims Meredith Nicholson for her own. He is the author of "The House of a Thousand Candles," the play billed for Daly's Theatre soon. The story of the play deals with the doings at an Indiana summer resort, and is replete with interest from beginning to end. The piece is also a novelty, for it can justly be termed a "mystery play," as there is an air of the mysterious throughout the piece that keeps one on the "qui vive." If the producing manager knew what the theatre-going public want, there would be fewer failures and poor shows; but as he is invariably the last person who really knows what they want and when by some freak of fortune he does give them what they want, it is said, "he has produced a success." When the fact is taken into consideration that in a theatrical year there will be fewer than ten real successes, the word success takes on a new meaning. "The House of a Thousand Candles," the play billed to appear at Daly's Theatre soon can truly be called a success, as it was first produced four seasons ago, at the Hackett Theatre, New York, where it ran for a solid year, and has been before the public ever since. Everywhere it has met with success. The play is from Meredith Nicholson's novel by the same name, and done into play form by Geo. Middleton. Mr. Primrose, the producer, has secured a complete scenic equipment and an excellent cast. Advertisement.

Carl, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Applebee, who reside in the town of Plainfield about a mile and a half south of Campbell Corners, met instant death last Sunday by the discharge of a gun. He left the house in the forenoon, taking with him a shotgun and one shell. As he did not return for dinner, Mr. Applebee went out to look for him and was horrified to find his dead body in a patch of woods not far away. One hand still grasped the gun barrel not far from the muzzle. The charge had entered his head just back of one ear, apparently passing upward and tearing away the back part of his head. Dr. Borden was called to view the remains and said that death must have taken place instantly when the gun was discharged three or four hours before. There seemed to be nothing farther to indicate whether it was accidental or otherwise. The young man was nearly 20 years old.

Card of Thanks. We take this method of thanking those kind neighbors and friends who so thoughtfully extended their assistance and sympathy during the illness and after the death of our daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mullen.

Those doing the work have had the advantage of advice from all the experts in the city, which has been given freely and without any expense, so that it should be no trouble to do the work in first class shape. The fact that a majority of those watching the work have never seen a piece of this kind of pavement before and consequently know nothing about it has not deterred them in expressing their opinion on the subject.

He is the author of "The House of a Thousand Candles," the play billed by the play deals with the doings at an Indiana summer resort, and is replete with interest from beginning to end. If the producing manager knew what the theatre-going public want, there would be fewer failures and poor shows; but as he is invariably the last person who really knows what they want and when by some freak of fortune he does give them what they want, it is said, "he has produced a success." When the fact is taken into consideration that in a theatrical year there will be fewer than ten real successes, the word "success" takes on a new meaning. "The House of a Thousand Candles," the play, billed to appear at Daly's Theatre soon can truly be called a success, as it was first produced four seasons ago, at the Hackett Theatre, New York, where it ran for a solid year, and has been before the public ever since. Everywhere it has met with success. The play is from Meredith Nicholson's novel by the same name, and done into play form by Geo. Middleton. Mr. Primrose, the producer, has secured a complete scenic equipment and an excellent cast. Advertisement.

Carl, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Applebee, who reside in the town of Plainfield about a mile and a half south of Campbell Corners, met instant death last Sunday by the discharge of a gun. He left the house in the forenoon, taking with him a shotgun and one shell. As he did not return for dinner, Mr. Applebee went out to look for him and was horrified to find his dead body in a patch of woods not far away. One hand still grasped the gun barrel not far from the muzzle. The charge had entered his head just back of one ear, apparently passing upward and tearing away the back part of his head. Dr. Borden was called to view the remains and said that death must have taken place instantly when the gun was discharged three or four hours before. There seemed to be nothing further to indicate whether it was accidental or otherwise. The young man was nearly 20 years old.

Demand Nursery Stock on Hardy Roots.

The past winter has taught many lessons to the Wisconsin fruit grower. Since the beginning of fruit growing in this state the paramount question relative to any variety has been, "Is it hardy?" and upon the answer to this question has depended whether or not the variety has been extensively planted in this state. Although this question has been the one of prime importance for the past forty years, the degree of advancement made in securing hardy trees has been markedly slow. Hardy varieties have been produced by the score, when these are grafted on non-hardy roots, they fail to live up to their reputation.

That the fruit grower and nurseryman must give more attention to the kind of stock upon which he buds or grafts his variety was clearly indicated by the amount of winter root killing which resulted last year. In Door county hundreds of trees of known hardy varieties were killed because the root system upon which they were growing was not hardy and therefore was killed by unfavorable climatic conditions, while the same varieties under identical conditions and on hardy roots were uninjured. The greatest loss to the grower by winter root killing is not merely the loss of his tree, but the loss of time which it has taken to grow the tree. If the tree is but one year planted, then the loss is comparatively small, but if it has been planted five or ten years, it is evident that the loss is very great.

To prevent this loss more attention is necessary to the kinds of roots upon which the tree is propagated. It becomes necessary therefore that the fruit grower demand of the nurseryman that he graft his plants upon roots which are known to be hardy, and while the cost to the fruit grower of a tree so grafted will be somewhat greater, in the long run the diminished loss will more than repay him for the additional cost. Whether or not the nurseryman propagates his stock in this way will depend entirely upon the fruit grower, for until the fruit grower demands stock so propagated the nurseryman will continue to use miscellaneous seedling roots of which nothing is known as to their parentage or hardiness.

He is president of the Elston Light and Power Co.; president of the Elderon Telephone Co.; and a member of the executive board of the Marathon County Agricultural Society. He has served his people for several years as town chairman, and was elected chairman of the County Board of Marathon county in 1910. He succeeded in securing the passage, while in the legislature, of several bills of direct benefit to the agricultural interests and to the northern portion of the state, prominent among which were the "Aid to Settlers in Clearing Cut-Over Lands," "The More and Better Live Stock Special," which carried stock from the State Agricultural college and several experts, and which visited all parts of the state showing and explaining the value of more and better live stock. His Fire Warden bill was another achievement, and one which directly benefits Northern Wisconsin. Mr. Plowman is a progressive and up to date farmer, and was born and raised and has lived on farm all his life. He elected to Congress his wide experiences will make him a valuable member of that body, and a representative of great worth to the rank and file of the Eighth district.

We have been doing some sorting and rearranging of stock lately and have run across a lot of odds and ends for which we have no particular place. If we keep them they'll simply get "lost in the shuffle" again. So we've decided to put a "price" on all irregular stock and clean it out. There are small lots of boards of various widths and lengths, odd lots of piece stuff, etc. Not enough of any one item to fill a large bill, but just the thing for fixing up about the place.

This had ought to be an inducement for you to get busy and attend to some of those long-needed repairs.

Pick out what you want. We will make the price right.

Demand Nursery Stock on Hardy Roots.

The past winter has taught many lessons to the Wisconsin fruit grower. Since the beginning of fruit growing in this state the paramount question is hardy? and upon the answer to this question has depended whether or not the variety has been extensively planted in this state. Although this question has been the one of prime importance for the past forty years, the degree of advancement made in securing hardy trees has been markedly slow. Hardy varieties have been produced by the score, when they fail to live up to their reputation.

That the fruit grower and nurseryman must give more attention to the kind of stock upon which he buds or grafts his variety was clearly indicated by the amount of winter root killing which resulted last year. In killing hundreds of trees of known hardy varieties were killed because the root system upon which they were growing was not hardy and therefore was killed by unfavorable climatic conditions, while the same varieties under identical conditions and on hardy roots were uninjured. The greatest loss to the grower by winter root killing is not merely the loss of his tree, but the loss of time which it has taken to grow the tree. If the tree is but one year planted, then the loss is comparatively small, but if it has been planted five or ten years, it is evident that the loss is very great.

To prevent this loss more attention is necessary to the kinds of roots upon which the tree is propagated. The fruit grower demands of the nurseryman that he graft his plants upon roots which are known to be hardy, and while the cost to the fruit grower of a tree so grafted will be somewhat greater, in the long run the diminished loss will more than repay him for the additional cost. Whether or not the nurseryman propagates his stock in this way will depend entirely upon the fruit grower, for until the fruit grower demands stock so propagated the nurseryman will continue to use miscellaneous seedling roots of which nothing is known as to their parentage or hardiness.

Went to Elderon, Marathon county, in 1897, and since that time has been engaged in logging, farming and breeding Guernsey cattle. He is president of the Elderon Light and Power Co.; president of the Elderon Telephone Co., and a member of the executive board of the Marathon County Agricultural Society. He has served his people for several years as town chairman, and was elected chairman of the County Board of Marathon county in 1910; was elected Member of Assembly in 1910. He succeeded in securing the passage, while in the legislature, of several bills of direct benefit to the agricultural interests and to the northern portion of the state, prominent among which were the "Act to Settlers in Clearing Car-Over Lands," "The More and Better Live Stock Special," which carried stock from the State Agricultural college and several experts, and which visited all parts of the state showing and explaining the value of more and better live stock. His Fire Warden bill was another achievement, and one which directly benefits Northern Wisconsin. Mr. Plowman is a progressive and up to date farmer, and was born and raised and has lived on farm all his life. If elected to Congress his wide experience will make him a valuable member of that body, and a representative of great worth to the rank and file of the Eighth district.

Make Your Repairs Now

We have been doing some sorting and rearranging of stock lately and have run across a lot of odds and ends for which we have no particular place. If we keep them they'll simply get "lost in the shuffle" again. So we've decided to put a "price" on all irregular stock and clean it out. There are small lots of boards of various widths and lengths, clean lot of piece stuff, etc. Not enough of any one item to fill a large bill, but just the thing for fixing up about the place.

This had ought to be an inducement for you to get busy and attend to some of those long-needed repairs.

Pick out what you want. We will make the price right.
